Getting support and supporting others

The "Questions"-section of this site was created for this purpose.

- Search to find out whether there is an answer to your questions already.
- If not, ask a new question.
- Help others by answering their questions.

The OpenTM2 Community Support Lead is also active in this section to help you (current assignee: Marc Mittag, current sponsor: Michael Schneider, beo)

OpenTM2 Translators and Developers Reference

You can always find the most current version of OpenTM2 Translators and Developers Reference in the OpenTM2 github-repository.

It contains accurate documentation of most of the OpenTM2 features, as well as the documentation of the API- and command-line usage of OpenTM2.

Connect to the OpenTM2 Steering Committee

- Read papers and decisions published by the OpenTM2 Steering Committee
- Give feedback to it in the OpenTM2 Steering Committee space of this site.

Collaborate with others

This site is based on Atlassian confluence - a system made for team collaboration for software users and developers.

- Create pages in the different spaces
- Discuss things with others
- Plan new features

So get involved!
